The minister also faces an arson charge in connection with an alleged incendiary fire at his former church. His trial on this charge is set for the September term of district court at Lawton.

PALL OF SMOKE AT BARTLESVILLE

Two Steel Tanks and Crude Destroyed
by Fire

Special to The World.
BARTLESVILLE, July 11.—Darkness prevailed most of the day in Bartlesville, as a result of the destruction of two 27,500-barrel steel tanks at the world's largest oil tank farm at Ramona, just south of this city.

The tanks, each filled with crude oil, were hit by a bolt of lightning early today. In preventing the spread of the fire, employees of the Prairie Pipeline company, owners of the tank farm, let most of the oil out of the tanks while other means were adopted in protecting the other 420 steel tanks.

The oil in the ponds was ignited and it was the smoke pall from this burning crude that caused Bartlesville people to do business today with their homes illuminated as at night.

The damage to the Prairie company will run around $100,000, the value of the tanks and the oil in them.

Special to The World.
STILWELL, Okla., July 11.—The chinch bug has devastated several fields of corn in Adair county within the last two weeks, and where it has found its way there has been nothing left in its path. Farmers in the communities where it has made its appearance have been trying to prevent its spread to other fields by plowing and dragging each day and then it ventures across. It is not believed that the worst of this deadly bug will become very extensive in the county as every farmer in the neighborhood where it has appeared has resorted to the drastic methods to stop it, and in the main has been effective.

Thru the eye of the needle

Puzzled minds wanted to know how a giant lake vessel could be sent through the narrow Welland Canal—an engineer told them how to use the Oxweld Blowpipe to cut the boat in half and the boat went through. It was re-assembled and became an ocean going ship.

Equally puzzled minds wanted to know how to manufacture a "one piece" all steel oil shipping container in large quantities—an Oxweld engineer told them to weld it with an Oxwelding blowpipe and they successfully produced and sold them.

These are just two highlights in the use of the Oxy-Acetylene process coupled with Oxweld engineering advice.

In hundreds of industrial plants, factories and shops Oxweld is developing the application of the Oxy-Acetylene blowpipe to jobs of production and reclamation that you would hardly believe possible.

Throughout this section Oxweld men are consulting constantly with manufacturers and their mechanics so that production costs and salvage expense can be lowered by using properly the Oxweld outfit.

You will be interested to learn how flexible is the Oxweld process. It is applicable to virtually every plant. And on one basis only—as a cost cutter and waste preventer.

Let us study your problems. An Oxwelding blowpipe may be the means of saving you thousands of dollars annually or accomplishing something you now consider impracticable.
